

Leadership Development

Bachelor of Liberal Studies

The fast-paced, dynamic global economy requires leaders with strong decision-making skills. The Leadership Development (LD) emphasis has proven successful in preparing students for jobs in non-profit and public-sector management positions as well as team leadership and supervisory roles.

A Bachelor of Liberal Studies (BLS) allows students to combine coursework in a number of disciplines to help them develop a broad base of skills necessary for becoming a leader in the workplace. Students who pursue a BLS develop critical thinking and conflict management skills through creative and innovative problem solving.

Coursework focuses on:

- Transformative leadership
- Project planning and implementation
- Collaborative leadership dynamics
- Conflict resolution

If you have an associate degree or credits from another institution, please contact an advisor to find out how to apply your credits to this program.
